FOR THE HERALD. MR. EDITOR: We had the pleasure of attending a quilting and logrolling on the 4th at Mrs. Bedenbaugh's, and as there is a cry for news I thought a short sketch would be interesting. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather there was a considerable little crowd. Early in the morning the snow began falling, and continued until near twelve o'clock. About 8 in the morning buggies began pass-ing my house in full speed, snow beat-ing them in the face, bound for the quilting. I said if they can face it, we can, so off I put for my horse, but about the time I got the harness on, I dont think I ever saw snow fall faster. We got off and after a few minutes drive, we were at the place and found a goodly number there. Mrs. Bedenbaugh put the ladies to quilting. What was to be done with men? After a short consideration, there was a large fire built in front of the house, so all could keep warm. Soon the Robbins began coming and the little boys got their guns for sport. It was not long before the men were more interested than the boys. Mrs. Beden-baugh's son was the best marksman, he killed five at one shot. It seemed at one time that we would have to retreat, but we all rallied and held our own. The number killed I do not know, it looked like birds everywhere. The ground was strewn. We thought we were having a good time but a our hand. courier came to our camp with orders "cease firing" "Dinner." Now the good part came, a sumptuous table is spread. It would be too tedious to mention a full list of contents. We would say in brief, it consisted in part, of boiled ham, pork, spare ribs, backbones, sausages, chicken, chicken pies, a variety of vegetables, pies and cakes. I have not told you half of the dinner. Some of the boys said after eating such a dinner, we will put his logs together. The quilt came out, the logs were

But has one vacant chair. So we see every man has his turn of sorrow, some more, some less. I never yet could meet with the man that complained not of something. Man, saith the word of Holy Writ, is born unto trouble as the sparks fly upwards. Thus you see philosopher, poet, theologian and the inspired word agree in teaching that every human being must drink the bitter waters of grief, must tread upon the burning sands of the parched desert of sad affliction during his journey through life. There is no escape for any man, for sorrow is the heirloom of the human race. Physical disease, domestic infelicity pecuniary trial, overwhelming misknows about the merit of Shriner's fortunes, painful disappointments, illrequited friendship, mental disquietude, anxious cares, and cruel bereavements, stand like fierce warriors at the door of every man's habitation, ready to do the bidding of that high Providence which superintends human affairs, and metes out chastisements and retributions military Camp? THE STRONG ARM OF THE LAW. Old Cash Captured-The Murderer not yet

(Special Dispatch to The News and Courier) CHERAW, March 9-12.30 P.M .- State Constable R. N. Richbourg, with twelve picked men armed with improved Springfield rifles, left Columbia at midnight last night, and arrived at Flor-ence at 3.30 A. M. They were met days. The force reached a point a mile below Cash's Depot at 5 A. M. disembarked and proceeded up the track on foot to Cash's house. Before daylight the house was surrounded, and the force waited for light. About 6 o'clock Cash the elder rose, found that the pickets were about, armed himself with a Winchester repeating rifle and pistols and tried to escape from the premises. He ran against John H. Pearson, one of the sentinels, who presented his rifle, deed, and Pearson said: "Drop your gun, or I'll shoot you in two seconds." Cash dropped his gun quickly. He admitted having been taken completely by surprise. When captured he was endeavoring to make his way to the log-house across the railroad, where young Cash has been sleeping every getting alarmed for his son's safety, made a proposition to go to the log-house, if allowed to do so, alone, and pledged his sacred honor that he would have his son surrender within two hours. The proposition was acceded to and the force was recalled. Cash went and soon returned, saying that his son had left the house an hour be. fore and that he did not know where he was. He offered, however, if the force would withdraw that his son would surrender before Wednesday. He frankly stated that he only wanted to come off with flying colors, that nelther he nor his son desired to be that will strain any one's jaws to terms. Bearing in mind the desire of Governor Thompson that Cash should be captured before he had a chance to surrender, Chief Constable Richbourg declined these terms. Cash then made ed to Cheraw to summon a larger posse of horsemen with which to enter the swamp and track the fugitive to his hiding place. He is supposed to be near Cash's Depot on an island in the swamp.

Arriving at Cheraw at 10 o'clock Capt. Richbourg called on the intendent and authorities for the force. He desired some fifty men. He is carrying out the desire of the Governor in making no terms with the Cashes. N. G. G.

On the night of the 9th, Col. E. B. C. Cash was lodged in the Columbia And on the 11th Col. R. C. Watts, of Laurens, son-in-law of Col. Cash, and associate counsel of S. W. Melton, gave notice to the Attorney General and Solicitor Newton that he would sue out a writ of habeas corpus before Chief Justice Simpson, "to inquire into the illegal arrest and deten-tion of Col. Cash."

Letters written by Col. Cash and his son Boggan, are in the possession of the officer who arrested the Colonel, in which the son expressed regret that he had wounded Mr. Coward, but hoped that Richards would die; and the old man says that if Boggan had not killed Richards he would have done so the same day. Col. Cash was arrested as accessory after the fact. Col. Cash has talked wildly since his arrest. He is anxious for any one of his captors to "stand up before him at ten paces." He told Capt. Richbourg he would hold the Governor responsible for his arrest, and said: "You have a strong force and we a weak one, but we intend to use the match box." The old man took too much whiskey, it is said. Speaking of the Governor, he said he had "never known a Thompson who was worth a damn." The negroes of Cheraw are sympathizers of the Cashes, and the Col. said in the letter above mentioned that he had heard from five hundred people and there was almost universal rejoicing over his son's act, while he had heard of only three men who condemn the deed.

On the 11th, Capt. Richbourg re-ceived a telegram from the Governor instructing him to return to Columbia with his posse, and the search for Cash says that his son could not be captured within six months, his retreat being almost impenetrable, and he has sent word to him not to surrender to any man but Sheriff Spofford.
